

Conscience Point Captions and Credits

Premieres November 18, 2019 on Independent Lens on PBS

- #1 CONSCIENCEPO_Publicity_01
Caption: Aerial view of homes in Southampton.
Credit: Dell Cullum

- #2 CONSCIENCEPO_Publicity_02
Caption: Shane Weeks, a member of the Shinnecock Indian Nation, fishes on the reservation in Southampton across from luxury homes.
Credit: Nadia Hallgren

- #3 CONSCIENCEPO_Publicity_03
Caption: U.S. Open merchandise featuring the Shinnecock name being sold at the Shinnecock Hills Golf Club. The Shinnecock Indian Nation receives no revenue from merchandise sales.
Credit: Treva Wurmfeld

- #4 CONSCIENCEPO_Publicity_04
Caption: Shinnecock activist Rebecca Hill-Genia (left) with her granddaughter Nasha speaking before a Town of Southampton Board Meeting in 2008.
Credit: SEA TV

- #5 CONSCIENCEPO_Publicity_05
Caption: Tribal Trustee Lance Gumbs at the Shinnecock Indian Nation Powwow.
Credit: Treva Wurmfeld

- #6 CONSCIENCEPO_Publicity_06
Caption: Shinnecock activist Rebecca Hill-Genia has worked for decades to fight overdevelopment of the Hamptons and bring issues to the attention of town officials, including improper disposal of ancestral remains and disturbances of grave sites.
Credit: Nadia Hallgren